E 458 .2 .S49

SPEECH

OF

Hon. Horatio Seymour,

BEFORE THE

DEMOCRATIC UNION STATE CONVENTION,

AT

ALBANY, SEPTEMBER 10th, 1862,

23.10

0N

Receiving the Nomination for Governor;

ALSO,

HIS SPEECH DELIVERED AT THE ALBANY CON-VENTION, JAN. 31ST, 1861.

NEW YORK:
PRINTED BY THE CONSTITUTIONAL LEAGUE.
1862.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL LEAGUE.

This Organization is composed of Conservative men of all parties opposed to Abolitionism, and its main purpose is to publish and circulate campaign documents, and to put in motion such action as will tend to the increase of Conservative Union sentiment in the State, the overthrow of the Abolition and Disunion element at the ensuing elections, and the establishment in the minds of the People of a sincere love for the Union, the Constitution, and the Laws.

All persons disposed to assist in the dissemination of sound documents may contribute to the funds of the Association by addressing either of the following Officers of the League:

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE,

WM. C. PRIME, Chairman,

JOHN B. BORST,

WM. CHAUNCEY, STEPHEN P. RUSSEL, JAMES BROOKS, ELIJAH F. PURDY, MORGAN L. HARRIS,

S. L. M. BARLOW.

WM. P. FROST,
H. K. BLAUVELT,

SPEECH

HON. HORATIO SEYMOUR

Before the Democratic State Convention, at Albany, September 10th, 1862, on receiving the Nomination for Governor.

MR. PRESIDENT-Having uniform'y and de cidedly expressed my unwil ingress to hold any offici-l po-ition at this time, I did not expecmy name would be brought before this Convention. The nomination you have made subjects me to great inconvenience, whatever may be the result of this election. I came to this Cam vention expecing to aid in placing at the head of the ticket the name of one whom I feel to be more fit than myself for that boncrable po eition. Bat, eir, whatever may be the i jury to myself, I cannot refuse a nomination made in a manner that touches my bear and fills me wi h a still stronger sense of my obligations to this great and patriotic par y. In addition to may debt of gratitude to partial friends, I am impelled, by the condition of our country, to asenfice my personal withes and intersets to its good.

Two years bave not passed away since a Con vention, remerkable for its numbers, pa riotism and intell gence, assembled at this place to aver', if cosmble, the calamities which affice our people. In respectful termentimal reduce leaders of the policial party which had tri umphed at a recent election to summir to the people of this country some mes-are of conciliation which would save them from civil ear It ask d that before we should be muy led in the evils and herro's of domestic bloodshed, those upon whem it would bring backrup cy and ruin, as diuso who e ho nes it would carry desolation and dah, should so allowed to speak That preser or the rights of our peaple was derided and deconiced and false asancauces were given that there was no danger. The aform came noon us with all its fury, and solated our land. It is said no comin mises would have sa infied the South If we had tried ham it would not now be a matter of desoriant opinion. It there offers had not estimied he Sparb, they would have gra ifi d loyal men at the North, and would have united as more Der ectly.

Animated by devotion to our Coustitution and Unia, our people rulli-d o lesar riof G.vroment, and one year since showed an armed erre gih hat astonished the world. We again suprail d to there who welded this mighty maerial power, to use it for the restoration of the Uliou and to uphill the Constitution, and were old that he who clampred for his constitutionalreha was a trai or !

Coogress assembled. Inexperienced in the conduct of publicaffars, dout k with power, it regan i's course of agistion, outrage and wr ng. The defeat of our arms at Manassas. fratime filled it with terror. U der this indoes calis adopted theresold for of Mr. Crittenten, declaring

" Iba the present deplacable Civil War has "been forced upon the c an ry by the Disuc-"10 lists of the Southern States, now in arm; " against the Constitut onal Government and "in arms around the Capital, Tiarin the Na-"limal emergency Congress, basi-hing all "fee ings of mere passion or resentment, will 'recolec' only i's dary to the whole country. "That this war is not waged, on their part, in " any spirit of appression, or for any purpose of " conquest or subjugation, or purp se of over-"the wing or in erfering with the rights or es-" tablished in-titurious of those States, but to "d feed and maintain the supremacy of the the war so constantly and clearly forefold, de- " Constitution and to preserve the Union, with "all the dignity, equality and rights of the se"veral States unimpaired, and that as soon as

"these objects are accomplished the war ought
"to cease."

Again the people rallied around the flag of the Union. But no sooner were their fears allaved than they began anew the factious intrigues-the violent discussions and the unconstitutional legislation which ever brings defeat and disgrace upon Nations. In vain were they warned of the consequences of their follies. In vain did the President implore forbearance and moderation. No act was omitted which could give energy to the Secessionists, or which would humiliate and mortify the loyal men of the South. Every topic calculated to divide and distract the North was dragged into embittered debates. Proclamations of emancipation were urged upon the President, which could only confiscate the property of loyal citizens at the South, for none others could be reached by the power of the government. The confiscation act had already forfeited the legal rights of all who were engaged in or who aided and upheld the rebellion. These were excited to desperate energy by laws which made their lives, their fortunes, the safety of their families and homes depend upon the success of their schemes .-From the Dragon's teeth, sown broadcast by Congress, have sprung the armies which have driven back our forces, and which now beleagures the capital of our country. The acts of the National Legislature have given pleasure to the Abolitionists, victories to the Secessionists. But while treason rejoices and triumphs, defeat and disgrace have been brought upon the flag of our country and the defenders of our Constitution. Every man who visited Washington eix months ago could see and feel we were upon the verge of disaster. Discord, jealousy, envy and strife pervaded its atmosphere.

I went to the camp of the soldiers. Amid the hardships of an exhausting campaign-amid sufferings from exposure and want-amid those languishing upon beds of sickness, or those struck down by the casualties of war, I heard and saw only devotion to our Constitution, and love for our country's flag. Each eye brightened as it looked upon the national standard. with its glorious emblazoury of stars and stripes. From this scene of patriotic devotion I went into our national Capitol. I traversed its Mosaic pavements; I gazed upon its walls of polished marble; I saw upon its ceilings all that wealth, lavishly poured out, could do to make them suggestive of our country's greatness and its wonderful wealth of varied productions. Art had exhausted itself in painting and sculpture to make every aspect suggestive of high and noble thought and purpose. Full of the associations which cluster about this vast Temple which should be dedicated to patriotism and truth, I entered its Legislative Halls; their gilded walls and gorgeous furniture did not contrast more strongly with the rudescenes of martial life than did the glistening putrescence and thin lacquer of Congressional virtue confrast with the sterling loyalty and noble self-sacrifice of our country's defenders. I listened to debates full of bitterness and strife.

I saw in the camp a heartfelt homage to our national flag—a stern defiance of those who dared to touch its sacred tolds with hostile hand. I heard in the Capitol threats of mutilation of its emblazonry—by striking down the life of States. He who would rend our national standard by dividing our Union is a traitor. He who would put cut one glittering star from its azure field, is a traitor too.

THE PRESENT CONDITION OF OUR COUNTRY.

Let us now confront the facts of our condition, and they shall be stated in the language of those who brought this administration into power, and who are now politically opposed to the members of this Convention. After the expenditure of nearly one thousand millions of dollars, and the sacrifice of more than one hundred thousand northern lives, in the language of the Evening Post:

What has been the result? Our smies of the West, the noble victors of Fort Donelson and Shiloh, are scattered so that no man knows their whereabout, while the foe they were sent to disperse is a hundred miles in their rear, threatening the cities of Tennessee and Kentucky, and even advancing toward one of the principal commercial cities of the free States.—There is no lesdership, no unity of command, apparently no plan or concert of action in the entire region we have undertaken to hold and defend. At the same time, our *rmy of the East, numbering 250,000 troops, fally *rmed and equipped and admirably disciplined, after investing the capital of the enemy, has been driven back to its original position on the Potomac, decimated in numbers and unprepared to make a single vigorous movement in advance.

And it adds :-

Now it is useless to shut our eyes to the fact that this is a failure, disgraceful, humiliating and awful.

The Evening Journal, the accredited organ of the Secretary of State, now admits the truths uttered in this Hall when we assembled here in February, 1861, truths then derided and denounced as absurd and treasonable. It says:

The war has been a stern schoolmaster to the People of the Loyal States. We have learned the folly of underrating our enemies. We have learned that they are equally brave, equally hardy, equally quick witted, equally endowed with martial qualities with ourselves. We have learned they are terribly in earnest in their efforts to achieve their ends.

The New York Tribune declares that

"The Country is in peril. Viewed from the standpoint of the public estimate of the 'situation, it is in extreme peril. The rebels seem to be pushing forward their forces along the border line from the Atlantic to the Missouri. They are threatening the Potomac and the Ohio. They are striking at Washington, Cincinnati and Louisville. The simultaneous movement is both slarming and encouraging. It is alarming becaue, through the timidity, despondency or folly of the Federal Government, it may become temporarily successful, giving to the foe a lodgment in some portion of the Free States which may require weeks to break up."

But it is admitted by those who were opposed to us, that debt and defeat are not the heaviest calamities which weigh us down. A virtuous people and a pure government can bear up against any amount of outward pressure or physical calamity, but when rottenness and corruption pervade the legislative hall or executive department, the heart of the patriot faints, and his arm withers. The organ of the Secretary of State admits:

"There have been mistakes. There have been speculations. Weak men have disgraced, and bad men have betrayed the government. Contractors have fattened on fat jobs. Adventurers have found the war a source of private gain. Moral desperadoes have flocked about the National Capital and lain in wait for prey. The sour of the land has gathered about the sources of power and defiled them by its rank and offensive odor. There has been mismanagement in the departments; mismanagement wherever great labor has been performed and great responsibilities devolving. Men—even Presidents and Cabinet officers and Commanding Generals—have erred because they could not grasp the full significance of the drama, and because they were compelled to strike out on untrodden paths."—[Ere. Journal.

The New York World exclaims in an agony of remorse:

It is with dismay and unspeakable shame that we, who have supported the administration from the beginning, observe its abuse of its power of arrest. There is no such thing as either justifying or extenuating its conduct in this particular. Every principle of American liberty, every regard for the loyal cause, every sentiment of justice, every impulse of manhood, cries out against it. The man who thinks at all is absolutely staggered that these things can be. They seem like some hideous dream one can almost fancy that Mephistophiles himself had got access into the councils of the government, and by some device, fresh from the pit, had diverted its energies from the suppression of rebellion to the suppression of liberty.

The New York Times demands a change in the Administration, and in the conduct of affairs.

I have thus carefully set forth the declarations and named the witnesses to this awful indictment against our rulers, for we mean to proceed with all the care and candor, and all the solemnity of a Judicial Tribunal.

It is with a sorrowful heart I point to there dark pictures, not drawn by journals of the Democratic party. God knows that as a member of that patriotic organization, as an American citizen, I would gladly efface them if I could. But alas, they are grounded upon truths that cannot be gainsaid. Once more, then, our Republican fellow citizens, in this day of our common humiliation and disgrace, we implore you as respectfully as in the hour of your political triumph listen to our suggestions. We do not come with reproaches, but with entreaties. Follow the pathway marked out by the Constitution, and we shall be extricated from our perilous position. On the other hand, if you will still be governed by those who brought us into our present condition, you will learn too late that there are yet deeper depths of degradation before us, and greater miseries to be borne than those which now oppress us. Nay more, the President of the United States appeals to us all, in his communication with the loyal men of the border States, when he says he is pressed to violate his duty, his oath of office, and the Constitution of the land-pressed by cowardly and heartless men, living far away from the scenes of war, fattening upon the wealth coined from the blood and misery of the land, and living in those localities where official invest gations show that this people and government have been robbed by fraudulent contracts. Such men demand that those who have suffered most in this contest, who have shown the highest and purest patriotism under the terrible trials of divided families, of desolated homes, of ruined fortunes and of blood stained fields, should have a new and further evil inflic'ed upon them by the hands of a government they are struggling to uphold. By the help of God and the people we will relieve the President from that pressure.

NECESSITY FOR PARTY ORGANIZATIONS.

An attempt is made to close the ears of our Republican friends to our appeals, because we act as a political organization. Can we do otherwise? Would not the dispersion of this ancient party, identified as it is with the growth, greatness and glory of our land, be looked upon as a calamity, even by our opponents? Did not a shadow fall upon our country when it was torn apart at Charleston; and do not men of all parties point to its disruption as one of the causes of this unnatural war? Is it not just we should have a representation in the State and National government proportioned to our contributions to our armies and the treasury? If we elect all of our ticket at this time, we shall have no more than our proportional share of political power. It may be said we should meet without regard to political organizations, and nominate officers. Let the two great parties be honest and honorable enough to meet in fair and open discussion with well defined principles and politics. Then each will serve our country as well out of power as in power. The vigilance kept alive by party contest guards against corruption or oppression. This watchfulness is most needed when unusual expenditures of money present unusual temptations to the corrupt and selfish.

For another reason we cannot disband our organization. The Union men of the border and more southern States, without distinction of party, impiore us not to do so. They tell us a triumph of our party now would be worth more than victories upon the battle field. It would re-assure their friends, it would weaken their opponents. Every advantage gained over Abolitionism puts down the rebellion. While they and we know there are many just and patriotic men in the Republican party, it is still true that its success gives power and influence to the violent and fanatical, and that their party action always goes beyond their party platform.

Every fair man admits there is no way of correcting abuses but by a change of political leaders. The Republican party demanded this when they charged abuses upon Democratic administrations. They should concede the principle now.

Experience shows that frauds practiced by political friends are not punished by men in power. It is conceded that gross frauds have been committed in different departments of government; that they have brought distress npon our seldiers, defeat upon our arms and disgrace upon our people. But not one man has been punished, or made to feel the power of that prerogative which is claimed to be an incident of war-corruption that has done more to destroy National power than armed rebellion has gone unscathed. The sentinel who slept upon his post, has been sentenced to deaththe official who closed his eyes to frauds, which destroyed armies, is quietly removed, by and with the advice of the Senate, and represents the Nation's charac'er at the Capital of a friend. ly power! Citizens in loyal States who became the objects of su picion or of malignant assaults, have been segged at their homes, dragged to distant prisons without trial and without redress, while each convicted plunderer walks freely and boldly amo g the people he has robbed and wronged. Ma' . ministration demands a change of administration.

At this time issues should be fairly at 'boldly made. It is no dishonor to be mistaken, but is disgraceful not to be outspoken. Let the war at least settle questions of principle. A few months will decide who is right and who is wrong now, as the past two years have shown who were right and who were wrong heretofore

We are in favor of the rights of the State, as well as of the General Government; we are in favor of local self-government, as well as of the national jurisdiction within its proper aphere.

While we thus meet as a political organization it is not for partisan purposes. We can best serve our country in this relationship. The President of the United States will bear witness that he has not been pressed or embarrassed by us. We have loyally responded to every call made on us by constituted authority. We have obeyed all orders to reinforce our armies. When we were in power we denounced the higher law doctrine-the principle that men might set up their wills against the statutes of the land-as treasonable. We denounced it when uttered by northern men: we are combatting it now when it is asserted by the rebellions South. We repudiate it by submitting to every demand of our Government made within the limits of rightful jurisdiction. This obedience has not been constrained, but cheerfully rendered, even in support of a party and policy to which we are opposed. We have struggled to sustain not only the letter but the spirit of our laws. We feel that we have set an example of logalty that will not be lest upon those opposed to us. Having done our duty, we now demand our rights, and we shall at this time sit in calm and feerless judgment upon the conduct of our rulers. Ours shall not be the language of discord and violence. We deplore the passionate and vindictive assaults of leading Republican journals upon those holding civil or military stations. Above all, we protest in behalf of our country's honor and dignity, against their insubordina'e and disrespectful language towards the President of these United States. Such language wrecks the authority of Government and tends to anarchy and public disorder.

For another reason, we cannot disband our organization. No other party can save this country. It alone has clearly defined purposes and well settled principles. It has been well said in our Congressional Address, that under its guidance,

From five millious, the population increased to thirty millions. The Revolutionary debt was extinguished. Two foreign wars were successfully prosecuted, with a moderare outlay and small army and navy, and wi hout the suspension of the habeas corpus; without one intraction of the Constitution; without one usurpation of power; without suppressing a single newspaper; without imprisoning a single editor; without limit to the freed-m of the press, or of speech in or out of Congress, but in the milest of the grossess abuse of both; and without the arrest of a single "traitor," though the Jarviord Convention sat during one of the wars, and in the other Senators invited the enemy to "Greet our Volunteers with bloody hands and welcome them to Hospitable Graves!"

During all this time wealth increased, busisees of all kinds multiplied, prosperity smiled perament is patriotion—to resist a good one is on every side, taxes were low, wages were high. the North and the South forvished a market for each other's products at good price, public liberty was secure, private rights undisturbed; every man's house was his castle; the Courts were open to all; no passports for travel, no secret police, no spies, no informers, no bas tiles; the right to a seem't le pesceably, the right to petition; freedom of religion, freedom of speech, a free ballot, and a free press; and all this time the Constitution maintained and the Union of the States preserved.

WHY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY CANNOT SAVE THE COUNTRY.

On the other hand, the very character of the Bepublican organization, makes it incapable of conducting the affairs of the Government. For a series of years, it has practised a system of coalitions, with men differing in principle, until it can have no distinctive policy. In such chaotic masses, the violent have most control -They have been educating their followers for years, through the press, not to obey laws which did not accord with their views. can they demand submission from whole communities, while they contend that individuals may oppose laws opposed to their consciences? They are higher law men. They insist that the contest, in which we are engaged, is an irrepressible one, and that therefore the South could not avoid it, unless they were willing at the outset to surrender all that Abolitionists demanded. To declare that this contest is irrepressible, declares that our Fathers formed a government, which could not stand. Are such men the proper guardians of this government? Have not their speeches and acts given strength to the rebellion, and have they not also enabled its leaders to prove to their deluded followers that the contest was an irrepressible one?

But their leaders have not only asserted that this contest was irrepressible, unless the South would give up what extreme Republicans demand, (their local institutions,) but those in power have done much to justily this rebellion in the eyes of the world. The guilt of rebellion is determined by the character of the government against which it is arrayed. The right of revolution, in the language of President Lincoln, is a sacred right when exerted against a bad government.

We charge that this rebellion is most wicked because it is against the best Government that ever existed. It is the excellence of our Gov ernment that makes resistance a crime. Rebelhion is not necessarily wrong. It may be an act of the highest virtue-it may be one of the deepest depravity. The rebellion of our Fathers is our proudest boast-the rebellion of the greatest guilt. The first is patriotism, the last is treason. Legal tribunals can only regard resistence of laws as a crime, but in the forum of public sentiment the character of the Government will decide if, the act is treason or patriotiem.

Our Government and its administration are different things; but in the eyes of the civilized world, abuses, weakness or felly in the conduct of affairs go far to justify resistance. read to you the testimony of Messrs. Greeley, Weed, Bryant, Raymond and Marble, charging frand, corruption, outrage and incompetency upon those in power. Those who stand up to testify to the incompetency of these representatives of a discordant party to conduct the affairs of our Government are politically opposed to ns. Bear in mind that the embarrassments of President Lincoln grow out of the conflicting views of his political friends, and their habits and principles of insubordination. His hands would be strengthened by a Democratic victory, and it his private prayers are answered, we will relieve him from the pressure of philanthro, ists who thirst for blood, and who call for the extermination of the mer, women and children of the South. The brutal and bloody language of partisan editors and political preachers have lost us the sympathy of the civilized world in a contest where all markind should be upon our side.

Turning to the Legislative Departments of our government, what do we see? In the history of the decline and fall of Nations, there are no more striking displays of madness and folly. The assemblage of Congress throws gloom over the nation; its continuance in session is more disastrous than defeat upon the battle field. It excites alike alarm and disgust.

The public are disappointed in the results of the war. This is owing to the differing objects of the people on the one hand, and fanatical agitators in and out of Congress on the other. In the army, the Union men of the North and South battle side by side, ut der one flag, to put down rebellion and uphold the Union and Con-In Congress a fanatical majority stitution. make war on the Union men of the South and strengthen the hands of Secessionists by words and acts which enable them to keep alive the flames of civil war. What is done on the battle field by the blood and treasure of the people, is und ne by Senators. Half of the time is spent in factious measures designed to destroy all confidence in the government at the South, and the rest in annoying our army, in meddling with its operations, embarrassing our generals our Brothers is the humiliation of our Nation, and in publishing undigested and unfounded is our National disgrace. To resist a bad Gov- scandal. One party is seeking to bring about peace, the other to keep alive hatred and bitterness by interferences. They prove the wisdom of Solomon, when he said: "It is an honor to a man to cease from strife, but every fool will be meddling."

This war cannot be brought to a successful conclusion or our country restored to an honorable peace under the Republican leaders for another reason. Our disasters are mainly due to the fact that they have not dared to tell the truth to the community. A system of misrepresentation had been practiced so long and so successfully that when the war burst upon us they feared to let the people know its full proportions, and they persisted in assuring their friends it was but a passing excitement. They still asserted that the South was unable to maintain and carry on a war. They denounced as a traitor every man who tried to tell the truth and to warn our people of the magnitude of the contest.

Now, my Republican friends, you know that the misapprehension of the North with regard to the South has drenched the land with blood Was this ignorance accidental? I appeal to you Republicans, if for years past, through the press and in publications which have been urged upon your attention by the leaders of your party, you have not been taught to despise the power and resources of the South? I appeal to you to say, if this teaching has not been a part of the machinery by which power has been gained? I appeal to you to answer if those who tried to teach truths now admitted have not been denounced? I appeal to you if a book, beyond all others, false, bloody and treasonable, was not sent out with the endorsement of all your managers; and is it not true that now, when men blush to own they believed its statements, that its author is honored by an official station? It is now freely confessed by you all that you have been deceived with respect to the South. Who deceived you? Who, by false teachings, instilled contempt and hate into the minds of our people? Who stained our land with blood? Who caused ruin and distress? All these things are within your own knowledge.-Are their authors the leaders to rescue us from our calamities? They shrink back appalled at the mischief they have wrought, and tell you it is an irrepressible contest. That reason is as good for Jefferson Davis as for them. They attempt to drown reflections by new excitements and new appeals to our passions. Having already, in legislation, gone far beyond the limits at which, by their resolutions, they were pledged to stop, they now ask to adopt measures which they have heretofore denounced as unjust and unconstitutional. For this reason they cannot save our country.

water and a

As our national calamities thicken upon us an attempt is made by their authors to avoid their responsibilities by insisting that our failures are due to the fact that their measures are not carried out, alrhough Government has already gone far beyond its pledges. The demands of these men will never cease, simply because they hope to save themselves from condemnation by having unsatisfied demands. At the last session Congress not only abolished slavery in the District of Columbia, but, to quiet clamorous men, an act of Confiscation and Emancipation was passed, which, in the opinion of leading Republicans, was unconstitutional and unjust. By this act the rebels have no property-not even their own livesand they own no slaves. But to the astonishment and disgust of those who believe in the policy of statutes and proclamations, these rebels still live and fight and hold their slaves. These measures seem to have reanimated them. They have a careless and reckless way of appropriating their lives and property, which by act of Congress belong to us, in support of their cause.

But these fanatical men have learned that it is necessary to win a victory before they divide the spoil-and what do they now propose? As they cannot take the property of rebels beyond their reach, they will take the property of the loyal men of the Border States. The violent men of this party as you know from experience, my conservative Republican friend, in the end have their way. They now demand that the President shall issue a proclamation of immediate and universal emancipation? Against whom is this to be directed? Not against those in rebellion, for they came within the scope of the act of Congress. It can only be applied to those who have been true to our Union and our Flag. They are to be punished for their loyal-When we consider their sufferings and their cruel wrongs at the hands of the secessionists, their reliance upon our faith, is not this proposal black with ingratitude?

The scheme for an immediate emancipation and general arming of the slaves throughout the South is a proposal for the butchery of women and children, for scenes of lust and rapine; of arsen and murder unparalleled in the history of the world. The horrors of the French Revolution would become tame in comparison. Its effect would not be confined to the walls of cities, but there would be a widespread scene of horror over the vast expanse of great States, involving able the loyal and seditions. Such malignity and cowardice would invoke the interference of civilized Europe. History tells of the fires kindled in the name of religion, of arroci ies committed under the pretexts of orbloodier than the world has yet eeen shall be cause disorder and endless moral evils. Pecuenacted in the name of philanthropy!

cipation at this time, would be a cruel wrong to tion involves repudiation of National debts If the African. It is now officially declared in its guaranties of rights of property, of per-Presidential addresses, which are fortified by son, and of conscience. The moment we start Congressional action, that the negro cannot the world that we do not hold the Constitution live in the enjoyment of the full privileges of to be a sacred compact, we not only destroy all life among the white race. It is now admitted, sense of security, but we turn away from care. after our loss of infinite blood and treasure, shores the vast tide of toreign immigration.that the great problem we have to settle is no' It comes here now not because there are not the slavery, but the negro question. A terri- other skies as bright and other lands as proble question, not apringing from statutes or ductive as ours. It seeks here security for usages, but growing out of the unchangable freedom-for rights of conscience-for immunidistinction of race. It is discovered at this ty from tyrannical interferences, and from day, in Republican Illinois, that it is right to meddling impertinence. The home and firedrive him from its soil. It is discovered by a side rights heretofore enjoyed by the American Republican Congress, after convulsing our people—enjoyed under protection of a written country with declarations in favor of his equal Constitution, have made us great and prosperrights, and asserting that he was merely the ous. I entreat you again touch them not with victim of unjust laws, that he should be sent sacrilegeous hands! We are threatened with away from our land. The issue is now changed, the breaking up of our social system, with the The South holds that the African is fit to live overthrow of State and National Governments. here as a slave. Our Republican Government If we begin a war upon the compromises of tae denies that he is fit to live here at all.

try, because through its powerful Press it rights. It may be asked by what right do the teaches contempt for the Laws, Constitution six small New England States, with a population and constituted authorities. They are not only less than that of New York, have six times its des'roying the Union, but they are shaking and power in the Senate, which has become the weakening the whole structures of State as well controlling branch of government? By what as National Government, by denunciations of natural right do these States with their small every law and of all authority that stand in the united populations and limited territories baway of their passions or their purposes. They lance the power of New York, Pennsylvania, have not only carried decord into our churches Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan? The and legislative halls, but into our armies. vast debt growing out of this war will give rise Every General who agrees with them upon the to new and angry discussions. It will be held subject of slavery is upheld in every act of in. almost exclusively in a few Atlantic States. subordination and sustained against the clear. Look upon the map of the Union and see how est proofs of incompetence, if not of corruption. small is the territory in which it will be owned, On the other hand, every commander who dit. We are to be divided into creditor and debtor fers from their views upon the single point of States, and the last will have a vast preponderslavery, is denounced, not only for incompe since of power and strength. Unfortunately tency, but constantly depreciated in every act, there is no taxation upon this national debt, and No man is allowed to be a Christian; no man is i's share is thrown off upon other property. It regarded as a statesman; no man is enffered is held where many of the government conunmolested to do his duty as a soldier unless tracts have been executed, and where in some he supports measures which no one dared instances, gross frauds have been practiced. It to arge eighteen months since. They insist is held largely where the Constitution gives a that martial law is superior to constitutional disproportional share of political power. With law, that the wills of Generals in the field are all these elements of discord, is it wise to as above all restraints; but they demond for theme sail constitutional laws or bring authority into selves the right to direct and control these contempt. Is it safe to encourage the torms-Generals. They claim an influence higher than tion of irreprestible committees, made up of that they will allow to the laws of the land .- impertinent men, who thrust themselves into Are these displays of insubordination and vio- the conduct of public affairs and try to dictate lence eafe at this time?

The weight of annual taxation will test severely the loyalty of the people of the North.

der or liberty; but it is now arged that scenes Repudiation of our financial obligations would niary rights will never be held more eacred than A proclamation of general and armed eman- personal rights. Repudiation of the Constitu-Constitution we must go through with it. It The Republican party cannot save the coun. contains many restraints upon our natural to legal rulers? or will you tolerate the enrollment of armies which are not constituted or organized by proper authorities?

for mass in the hands of the government at at once unlawful power and lawless violence, this crisis?

We implore you do not be deseived again with the syren song of no danger. There is danger. great and immisent, of the destruction of all government of safety for life and property unless the duty of obedience to law and respecfor an horities and the honest apport of those in the public service, both military and civil, are taught and enforced, by all means, wi hin our control.

With us there is no excase for revolutionary action. Our system of government gives peaceful remedies for all evils in legislation.

WHAT THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY PROPOSE TO DO.

Mr. President: It will be asked what do we propose to do We mean, with all our powers of mind and person to support the Constitution and upsold the Union; to maintain the laws, to preserve the public fatth. We instal upon obedience to laws and respect for Constitutional. suthority; we will defend the rights of citizens; we mean that rulers and subjects thall respecthe laws; we will put down all revolutionary committees; we will resist all unanthorized orgamizations of armed men; we will spurn officious medalers who are impudently pushing themselves into he councils of our Government. Politically opposed to those in authority, we demand hey shall be treated with he respect due to their positions as the representatives of the dignity and honor of the American people. We do not try to save our country by aband ning its government. In these times of trial and danger we cling more closely to the great principles of civil and religious liberty and of personal right; we will man the defences and bar riers which the Constitution throws around them; we will revive the courage and strength en the arms of loyal men by showing them they have a living government about which to rally; we wil preclaim amids: the confusion and up row of civil war, with loader tones and firmer voices the great maxims and principles of civil liberty, order and obedience. What has perpetnated the greatness of that nation from which we derive so many of our maxima? Not its victories upon land nor its trium; he upon the seas, but its firm adherence to its traditional policy. The words of Coke, of Camden and Manafield, have for long periods of time given strength and vitality and honor to its social system, while battles have lost their significaace. When England was agitated by the throes of violence-when the person of the King was insulted; when Parliament was besieged by mobe maddened by bigotry; when the life of Lord Manafield was sought by infariated fanatiss, and his house was burned by incendiary years.

things just towards those who have placed their first, hen he uttered those words which checked He declared that every citizen was entitled to bi- rights according to the known procedures of the land. He showed to the world the calm and swind majesty of the law, unshaken amidet convulsions. Safirshant in its strength and pari y, it was driven to no acts which destroy the spirit of law. Violence was rebuked, the heart of the Harion was reassure ', a sen-e of securry grew up, and the storm was stilled! Listen to his word:

Miserable is the condition of individuals ; dangerous is the condition of the State where there i. no certain law, or what is the same thing, no certain administration of law by which individuals may be protected and the State made se-

Thus, too, will we stand calmly no amidst present disasters. We have warned the public that every act of disabedience weskened their claims to protection. We have admonished our rulers that every violation of right destroyed sectiments of loyalty and day. That obesentiments of loyalty and dary. That obe-dience and protection were recurrocal obligation . He who withholds his earnest and cheerfel support to any legal demand of his Governe ment, invites oppression and namps ion on the per of those in sathority. The public servan who over-teps his jurisdiction or tram; les mocr the rights, person, property or procedure at the governed, insigntes resistance and re-

Under abuse and defrac ion we have faithtuly a red upon these precepts. It our purposes were factions, the elements of disorder are everywhere within our reach. If we were as disobedient to this Government and as denumciatory of its off dals as those who placed them in power, we could make them tremple in their seats of power. We have been obedien, loyal and patient. We shall continue to be so under ell circum-tances. But let no man mistake this devoice to our country and its Constitu-tion for unworthy fear. We have no greater stake in good order than other men. Our arms are as strong, our endurance as great, our fortitude as unwavering a that of our political opponents. But we seek the blessings of peace, of law, of order. We ask the public to mark our policy and our position. Opposed to the election of Mr. Lincolo, we have lyally sustained him. Diffring with the the Administration as to the course and conduct of the war, we have cheerfully re-ponded to every demand made upon us. To day we are putting forth our utmost efforts to relatorce our armies in the field. Without condition or threats we are exerti g our energies to strengthen the hands of government and to replace it in the com-manding position it held in the eyes of the world before recent disasters. We are pouring our our blood, our treasures, and our men, to rescue it from a position in which it can neither propose beace nor conduct successful war. And we wish to see our Union saved, our laws vindested, and peace once more restored to our tand. We do not claim more virtue or intelligence than we award to our opponents, but we now have the sad and bloody proof that we act upon sounder principles of government. Aunimated by the motto we have placed upon our banner." The Union, the Constitution and the Laws"—we go into the political contest confident of the support of a People who cannot be deaf or blind to the teachings of the last two

GOV. SETMOUR'S SPEECH

At the Convention held at Albany, January 31, 1861.

Actes Include. Here

Contect to that we so not me the cartepurposes, didicada we are used in a mara-$200 of a call beried in a not beautifued for the दिक्षा का प्रशास के विकास कर है। इस स्थाप कर साथ देश Se & Depresents the lift. The pend a of the Since are dimid-diamo and great planter like to which gave a tak late Production as mucthan three condred sod introce-sol accuse other more than three hundred and en thissand rokes in them respect to tan till et .... bare valled with palled expect of a fir with a effort on the part of the resolution we may to the sters the called the would there will be the We have a led with a perempty and of a denume on the form at the firmer of their position. Te lave stren a modula a no 7% TO end To be the ended to the individuals of that prom, worder is not started at the single of the sin gent medic rother Legis source. The disexamed up love examenable date = 1 a f. Our condity is on the verge of their and the in behalf of the greature at 2 - 1. We inplies and of lines we have the us a election have frinci transala de mestro bulbust co- i cders will be a day. In leve in our reality Dinns Testal ones des dillers 1 à Tas majorny of L-periods New Tex. Total mee above to missible coses. We shall him-ures in what we have a leakant will be interest ber condaul in the furnit-

As I have been than I more the communee winds as to frame reach used for your last insame, I wish at six a may meye of the outer with similar to is and me sommen's Ve

Vindi and the grant to a such that assume the second of the angle of the first many, have retend away subsections of the terminal and a subsections of the true of the angle and a subsection of the angle of the same of the angle of the same o भाउपने वे व्यवस्था के स्वार्थ के विकास के अ The transition of the state of & atempras - Line . N. Scher . Lea . . . . . . progress to der the rideries of the Tourish but yes cold yes and in the war. sai bour lared to Lath old ike. Tare ora Constant has integral of the fill of an abstraction to the fill of an abstraction to the fill of the fill who is what had finger in our list of the Bartin week for fig. Glid occases to soft much and where many and in the many and in the fill of the spreams of our rates—no make of Glid payed in His Temp's that the sort of the mail too which had abased the commonwess of the Conetitutura, migai a-vertische sa a sali rosi sec Notal bigo pa, tiste sali ilea ti might tieret corse our land. Amed this wild cother-lesse shere was no imagination so extract, not their work faith so strong that is foresaw the full in-

Hotel Hitts in Agriculta layue includings the distribution of the matter last or strated. Strate juil Hazad, soid was teen individual in last distribution of the transport and the last in the original of the oset uncludue. He sould grad President of Lie established post Le Builde des . For all seems visit The visit And the department of ree or part of Made that the Made that the second of the second men-mit me nem men fem ble feror agreement to an endin Delaise the Tip the William Search and tylical II

ur is and the or some

Tour specific to very even to say the Com-I don't be in the late of the property the party that the party th term the second are the second at all letter Turn Dir in anglimente — Te secondid in Lucinian V I I in C in . 1 I in N La priguesse of months and a structure of the first business and the structure of the first business and the structure of the first business and the structure of the LB. TRUST IF. Date on V- K-Bell 1 124 with a secretarion of the second mande Minders et L. iv tal. Viet . . Hand the fact of the time and the statement a s wall and it has La Lede oue DeldL-E latte L'Electre Fill Les Collecter Du Bellau. The Cast worth set a min a to take the source of the transfer of the second of the illact the maniferrors, buy to place that the CAROLINE TO THE SELECTION OF THE SELECTI The this city are a few areas at the THE PER SELECTION OF THE SECTION OF A SECTION OF s-turer and interior of artists our pretty The Front of all the remaining in the state of . ಎಲ್ಲೇ ಪ್ರವೀಸಿ ಬ್ಯಾತಿ ಎಂದು ವೇ ೩ ಸಿಡಿ ್ರಮಕ್ಕೆ ಕೈನ್ನಡ್ ಮಾಡು ಬಿಂದಿಕ್ಕೆ ಬಿಡುವುದು ಮಾಡುವುದು ಮಾಡು eneces investing in the last life by the and the family a small fire talk preon a specific desire of a large per a secondar a language, desire of or a large per a secondar a . 15 .etf att 1 Tie Though a Trust salleitych reim ollustelij ud gyt--Finest Livient T. Blag. Himself : The Tobas of the lead of the growing would use at the concept this is the factor the wit place issume in providing the interior Lies in the lifters of the company three described and the property sections

The particular of pair a line of the at the and the matter of the feet of Consider the first large function of the mean size. LATERIAL DE CELTA, MINE LA LABORTION. The stage with the state of the Sin September The I a to Table a warming the The film of him line of the sai Mr. Jeft tent follows is the first of the Electrical Control of the service of the servi ಾರ್ ಕಪ್ರಾಹಾದಿವೆ ರಾಜ್ಯ ಬರ್ಚಿ ಸಾಗ್ರಹಿಸಿ the chart manager and finish depose of folianties, pris peet toward the

Thus far, the North has had greatly the advantage in the dousen of these acquisitions, and the political power which emmates from the creation of Sa'es, made from their limits. Five free and five slave States have been ereced from territories gained since the adoption of our to stitution. The free S ares has e the whole of the Preific coast, and the largest of value and extent in the remaining terri-ories, lie north of a line which bounds the region where slavery can be employed, and lie, too, upon the pathway of European and northern immigration. Our acquisitions since 1773, have extended the Southern S ares and Territories to 882,245 square mil-s, while the North has expanded to 1,204,204 square miles. Assuming that the Nor hwestern territory belonged to Virginia, and deducting that from the area of the South, it will be found that the South has increased less than fifty per cent, and the North nearly 1100 per cent, in extent, since the Revolution. The South has reliquished to the lution. The South has relinquished to North 251,671 square miles, constituting the present States of Onio, Indians, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsia. The North has never relinquished one foot of the original territory, and in the divisions of that which use been acquired, it has succeeded in gaining the largest propertion.

This controversy does not grow out of a claim by either party that the Constitution shall be changed, but with regard to the construction that should be given to that instrument. South claim that they have a right to take their slaves into all the territories, by virtue of the Constitutional compact, as construed by the Supreme Court, and because slavery originally existed in t ero, with the exception of those gained from Mexico. They deny that slavery was abolished when they were added to our Union, and they deny the power of Congress to legislate against those rights of property which were recognized in our whole country at the time of the Revolution, and which were upheld by the laws of every Sa'e, save one, when the Constitution was formed

The South does not ask to extend slavery. They say it exists in the Territories. The Republicans assert that slavery shall not be extended. They contend that it does not exist in the Territories, but not content with leaving this question to the decision of the appointed tribunals, they demand legislation in the form of provisor or declarations in the nature of that contained in the ordinance regarding the north. west, which assume the existence of slavery in the disputed regions, in the absence of positive prohibitions. They show a distrust in their own constitutional constructions and historical statements, by demanding Congressional interferences and restraints, and under the cry of "No Extension!" they are in fact agitating for repeal and restrictions which are of no signifi-cance unless slavery has the legal existence which they deny.

Our fathers disposed of the same or similar difficulties, by compromises. Adjustments have been made from time to time in the progress of our government. The condition of our affairs forces upon us the alternative of compromise or civil war. Let us contempts to the active ternative. We are advised by the conservative ternative. States of Virginia and Kentucky that if force is to be used it must be exerted against the united Surh It would be an act of folly and madness, entering upon the contest, to under-rate our opponents, and thus subject ourselves to the disgrace of defeat in an inglorious warfare. Let us also see if successful coercion by the Morth is less revolutionary than successful secession by the South. Shall we prevent revolution by being foremost in overthrowing the principles of our government, and all that makes is valuable to our people, and distinguishes it among the nations of the earth? Upon whom are we to wage war? Our own connerymen, whose white population is threefold that of the whole country in time of the Revolation. Their courage has never been questioned in any contest in which we have been engaged. They battled by our side with equal value in the Revolutionary struggle, in the last war with Great Britain, and in the Mexican conflet. Virginia sert her sons, under the command of Washing on, to the relief of beleaguered Boston. Alone, the South defeated the last and most desperate effort of British power to divide our country, at the buttle of New Orleans. From the days of Washington to this time, they have furnished their full proportion of soldiers for the field, of statesmen for the Cabinet, and of wise and patriotic Senators for our legislative halls.

It is only bigot'ed ignorance that denies the equality of their public men to those of the North. To assume that our brethren in fifteen States lack the capacity to understand, and the ability to project their own interests, is to assume that our government is a failure, and ought to be overturned. It is to declare that nearly one-half of our people are incepable of self government. They have a vast extent of fertile land, producing not only the cotton, rice and sugar cultivated in the United States, but a great abundance of the cereals and of animal tood. The census of 1850 shows that they prcduc) more than one-half of the Iedian corn and of the live stock raised in the United States, and that they also manufactured one-sixth of the cotton cloth, one-quarter of the raw and one sixth of the wrought iron made in our country. In addition they have a vast abundance of coal, iron, copper and lead, and every element of wealth and strength. They have availed themselves of these advantages to an ex ent far expeeding what is understood by the people of the North.

I beg those who have been misled by constant and designed misrepresentation to study the statistics of our country, and they will see how grossly they have been deceived. A war upon them would lead to still greater development of their industry in competition with our own, as the late war with Great Britain made the United Sates her most formidable competitor in manufac'uring and in the arts. When we compare our local legislation with theirs, we have reason to blush. The united debts of the glave States, excepting Verginia and alesouri, are not equal to that of Pennsylvania, and their taxation less than that imposed upon the people of the Sare of New York; and yet they have an extended and eff-c ive system of internal improvement, while they have avoided the ruin-ous competition growing out of an undue number of railroade, &c.

In what way is this warfare to be conducted? None have been mad enough to propose to muster armies to occupy their territory. Great Britain tried that in the Revolution, when the population of the South was less than 2,000, 000. She a tempted invasion again in the late war, when their numbers were less than 3,500,-000. Nay, more, while she armed Indian sav-ages to carry murder and rapine into the homes of the North, she attempted to excite a servile insurrection in the South. For this we caused her brutal humanity. Her own indignant statesmen expressed their abhorrence on the floor of Parliament; and yet, at this day, those who quote British journals to influence American opinions, have intimated that there might be a gratification of their hate in the burning homes of murdered families of their own countrymer, or by cutting the embark ments of the Mississippi and submerging their land.

But some have suggested with complaisant air that the South could be easily subjugated by blockading their ports with a few ships of war. Let these gentlemen study the geography of our country. While the Atlantic coast line of the northern States is 851 miles, that of the South, including the Gulf of Mexico, is 3,076. We have 189 and they have 249 harbors. Great Britain, with her immense fleet, attempted blockade, and tailed. But, assuming the success of this measure, who are to be the sufferers? Are we waging war upon the South or upon the North? Upon the southern planter, or upon the northern merchant, manufacturer or mechanic? This coasing trade is the chief support of nor hern commerce-the prize which Great Britain struggled so long and so persistently to gain. Not only do our ships carry the products of the South, but, at this time, our manufacturers annually consume of their cotton to the amount of more than $40,000,000. In the hands of northern carriers and artisans. this becomes worth more than $150,000,000 The whole price for the cotton crop received from all the world, about $200,000,000 each year is paid out to the labor and industry of the North. We can inflict great misery upon the South, but could human ingenuity devise a warfare more destructive to all the interests of the northern States of this Confederacy? But, 889 our Republican friend, these evils may be averted by our internal channels. If we thus evade the blockade of the South, to what end is all it cost brought on us? Is it an object to disturb the course of trade, in order to ruin northern seamen and merchants and cities?

But let us leave these pecuniary considerations for others more weighty with every patriot. Upon what field shall this contest be waged? Upon what spot shall American shed American blood? Where, on this broad continent, shall we find the arena, where every association and memory of the past will not forbid this fratricidal contest? Or, when unnatural war shall have brought upon our people its ruin, and upon our nation its shame, to what ground shall we be brought at last? To that we should have accepted at the otset.

The question is simply this:—Shell we have compromise after the war, or compromise without war? Shall we be aided in this set dement by the loss of national honor, the destruction of individual interest, the shedding of blood, and by carrying misery and mourning into the homes of our people? Mr. President, the honor of the North, the parties to the controversy, and the object in dispute, demand a compromise of this difficulty. I say the honor of the North demands a conciliatory policy. When our Constitution was formed there was but one free State. To day there are nineteen free and fifteen slave States. Then there were but two Senstors from the free States; now we have a majority of eight in the Benate, and this will soon be increased. Then there were but eight representatives from the free States; are we have a majority of eight in the Benate, and this will soon be increased. Then there were but eight representatives from the free States; are we have the prosentatives from the free States; and the census of 1860 we will have the propertion of 151 members to 95. Then our population was about equally divided between the northern and southern States (the North 1,968,455, the South 1,961,872;) to-day we number more than 18,000,000, they about 12,000,000

These results are due not alone to natural causes, but to the policy that favored the commercial interest and immigration from other lands. This policy has ever been upheld loyally by the South, and history tells us by whom it was opposed. Would it not be base and cowardly to withhold at this day those courteries that consideration which we showed in the days of their comparative strength? Did not one of our distinguished Senators then declare that comity demanded that we should permit them to travel through our State with their slaves, and that, therefore, he was opposed to the repeal of the law which allowed them to remain here for a period of nine months; and did not his colleague, then a member of the House of Representatives, vote against allowing a petition for abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia to be read or referred? Were bills designed to embarrass the exercise of their rights to reclaim fugitives, then found upon the Statute books of the Northern States? By the increase of our population, under the adjustment of the Constitution, the power and control of the destinies of our country, are placed in the hand of the North. Does not every sentiment of patriotism and of honesty demand that we shall exercise this power in a spirit of conciliation and forbearance? And is it not a just cause for alarm to our Southern brethren to find men and journals who stood by them in the past, now becoming their most bitter and unscrupulous assailants, when their political power is weakened?

It grows out of the acquisition of territories not contemplated by the Constitution—out of an expansion of our territory from $20,680 to 2,936,166 square miles. In the progress of our country this has given rise to conflicting views, and our leading statesmen have, at different times, held inconsistent opinions. Mr. Calhoun, at one time, decided, while a member of the Cabinet, that Congress had the power of legislating upon terri orial questions. At a later day he took the opposite ground. John Quincy Adams, who opposed the admission of Missouri as a slave State in 1836, on the occasion of the admission of Arkansas, used the following language:

"MR CHAIRMAN-I cannot consistently with my sense of my obligations as a citizen of the my sense of my origanous as a close of the United States, and bound by oath to support their Constitution, I cannot o'ject to the admission of Arkansas into the Union as a slave State; I cannot propose or agree to make it a condition of her admission that a Convention of her people shall expunge this article from her Constitution. She is entitled to admission as a Flave State, as Louisiana and Mississippi, and Alabama and Missouri, have been admitted, by virtue of that article in the treaty for the acquisition of Louisiana, which secures to the inhabitants of the coded territories all the rights, privileges and immunities of the origi-nal citizens of the United States, and stipulates for their admission conformably to that principle, into the Union. Louisiana was purchased as a country wherein slavery was the established law of the land. As Congress have not power in time of peace to abolish slavery in the original States of the Union, they are equally destitute of the power in those parts of the terri-the name of Louisiana, where slavery existed at the acquisition. Slavery is, in this Union, the ent jew of internal legislation in the States, and in peace is cognizable by Congress only, as it is tacitly telerated and protected where it exiets by the Constitution of the United States, and as it mirgles in their interconre with other patio s. Atkar sa, therefore, comes, and has the right to come into the Union with ber claves and her slave laws. It is written in the bond, as d however I may lament that it ever was to written, I must faithfully perform its obligations "

The region acquired by the Louisians purchare, extending from the Gult of Mexico to the Capadian line, and, on its Northern limit, reaching from the Mississippi to the Pacific, compretends most that is valuable and import ant of the remaining territories. Ci izeus of the South hold as confidently and sit cerely that they are entitled to carry their slaves into this region, as dues the Republican that they have no anch right. We have had, here ofore, similar questions of jurisdiction between our own and threign governments. When Great Bri am seized, in the Northeast, a portion of our coun try, with we hold by the eacred title gainen by the blord and enffering of the Revolution, every American believed it was an mijust myasion; but we ar justed the difficulty by a new bout da ry. Again, when she made a claim on a part of the same Louisiana purchase on the northwest coast, we desired is justice, but visible do no to the justice con of the crewn 167 365 square miles of the most valuable pers of the P conc compared the host walking part of the Compared to the compared that her barbars and greatest compared than New E gland, New York, Pennyl vania and New Jersey combined. Shall we yield to a foreign Daviou and to a system of goverument condemied be our Constitution, what we will not concede to our own connerymen? Shall we, for the sake of peace, subject vast regions to pri ciples of government antago isuc to our owo, and then cestroy our Union by refusing a comprome e which would give to he South the occupation of a lers valuable territory in con sideration of their giving up what they believe to he their considurional right to occupy the whole? Is there any reason why we should be le-s concileatory now than we have been heretofore, and are there not obvious ones why we should be more to, in view of our restive tow er? Dilthe men "h now raise the cry of no compromise and to concession, hold that lan gnage with we had a controversy with the crown of Great Britain?

Let us lo k at the objections which are urged to rrispul cy. It is sa dibis quision was decided at the late el cion. Questions of constitntion al law are nest to be dec ded by elec ions ; if they were, our Constitution would be wor h less, and all its guarantees of the right's of States at d of individuals, of rights of conscience and religious liberty, might be appihilated. Neither is it true that the late canvass shows that the popular will is opposed to compromise. Mr. Lincoln was made President by a constitutional voe, and is entuled to our loyal and cheriful support, and he shall have it; but this is now the only result of the late contest.

If two millions of voters declared hencelves in favor of the principles put forth by his part, three millions declared themselves opposed to them; if the Republicans triumubed in the choice of the Executive, we triomphed in gai. ing Congreer, which makes the laws he is bound tory ceded by France to the United States, by to carry our, without regard to his own views. If all parties will yield to the results of the last election, and the President elect will declare has he will be governed by the will of the people and not by the will of a per y, and that he will not exert the influence of his place to defeat measures of compromise, peace will be re-stored to our land. I hold that those who point to the Chicago pla form, and not to the Constitution, as the guide of his conduct, do him a base wrong. I know that there are some that treat him as a man with manacles upon bis hards; who boast that they bold in the Chicago platform a chattel morigage upon his courcience and his opinion. All horest men declare, if he allows the declarations put forth in the heat of a political contest, to control his actions against bis own judgment, he will de--erve impeachment and degradation from his high office. I tepel, for one, the imputations thus made against Mr Lincoln, and the claims thus impudently put forth to per-onal and pecultar lines on his views as most injurious to his hopor and his influence B fore the election, it was said by his friends be was the man he t fitted to adjust the juring conflicts of the day. Let him hen continue to held the national and dispassionate position which was then claimed for him. We invoke the Repulicans not to charge that he will be a traiter to country by making a partisan creed, and not the solemn oath of his office, the gu de of his con-

It is also said that the honor and dignity of our government will not permit measures of compromise at this moment. When the predifficulty was only threatend, we were old, in answer to cur appeals for an adjustment, bas there was no cause for alarm; hat the South could not be driven out of the Uzon; the time had to come f r compr mises; now, that lare, that the dige i yof the gover ment will not permit it to make concessions. The error consists in confounding the action of a few states with the post ion of the whole South. We adout that you can; of offer constitutional compromises to the S a es that de lare them elves outside of the pale of the Consummon. But is he assisted of Sou h Carolina to be preed against the appeals of particle men in Virgiconcert of action with those w to defy the power of your governmen? Are we to give an impulse to revolution by it d ff rence with appeals of patrio ic men and by insulting threats of coercion, and by irri ari g displays f power? Which cane was helped at the Son h be the ender of arms oy our own State, -that of Union or that of Seces-100? All know that the future are of our country depends upon the action of haborder Sales, and while the beam trembles, New York throws its sword into the scale at dunchines it in favor of revolution. This called from the conservative Governor of Virginia the declaration that "to hing that bay occorred in the progress of this controversy has been worse im-d and less excusable. If New York desires to preserve the Union, a tender of med and money, under the promptings of passion, prejudice and excitement, will not produce the re-

We do not ask concessions for men in open resistance to government, but to the ewto are sirugglug for the preservation of our Union. S ab we have no sympathy for those upon whom the while weight of this contest falls? Can we listen, numoved, to the entreaties of the Governor of Maryland, of the Senator of | Kenincky, or refuse to second the parriotic ef-Virginia? Can we so entirely forget the part history of our country, that we can stand upon the point of pride against State-whose cirzens hattled with our fathers and powred on with them their bleed upon the soil of our S ate, amid the Highlands of ike Hodeon. and on the fields of Saratog .? I ask the old men within the sould of my voice, to what quarter did you look for sympa by during the last war with Great Britain, when New York was as-siled prou the shores of Erie sid On tario, as d when the disciplined 'rooss, who had encreerfully fought against Nap loon in the Peninenta, invaded on with comperating flee's by the channel of Lake Chamolaic? Was it not to the Sales of the South? Is it well that States which then refored to allow their militis to pass their own beiders to combat a common enemy, should be so rrompt to tender them now to battle against our own countrymen?

But it is orged, as a further objection, that But it is orged, as a influence of postage at the instance of the Stuth, we once compressited this terri ortal question, as detain that been nature to the adjustment, all bengh it was made at ite own request, and against the wi-bes of the North. This mistatement has been most if jurious in its influence upon the public n ind. The G verror of New York, in his late mes eage, caye, this Sate streamonsly opposed the In this he is ni-taken; it was voted for ex every forthern S. nater, and the orly opposition to the line came from the Sen b. The New York Senziors voice against the selpis sion of Mi sourieven after the passege of here establishing the lie at 36 degrees 30 minutes The coutli brocht of this line was a certheric mexime-every puribers man voved for it-ite while of position to it is coming from the South. It is true that after the anerd ment was ergrafted on the till, mary routheru men voed against the set, but that was appointed to me admission of Misson, and his ottelne. The South was comfelled to are de to it to scenre the admission of Boun; thi i always teld it to be an infor ge men upon i rights Even when this concesion was made to the N rth, the Senatore from this and other northern S. ster, who evorte engrafied in the bill what is called he compremise live, voted against the act. The Sou h dia not even g-in by this conce-sion it evetes of nor h ern Sena ora, except two, one from New Hamp chire and one from Range I-land. Mr. Land. admi a that this opposition to the admission of Missouri was ur jur ifi-ble, and that he w s in favor of letting in w S area come into this Con feder.c., with or without Slavery, as they might el-c'. In offering to take this like, which gives to the North the largest share of the most valnable portion of our territories, it tests that it is meeting us more than half way in its efforts for adjustment.

But it is and that a compromine of this controvery will be a secrifice open niple to which honest men cannot assent. Then it is considered in tion itself cannot be supported by honest men, for it is haved upon and made up of compromition, or to alter the arms of the axis ingones all parties at the North and South ablae claim that they only demand their present rights under but instrument; but own give causes to which I have referred, an antagonism springs up in regard to the construction, and this growt be estimated by force or by sojuntment.

Let us take care that we do not mistake passion and prejudice and party zar purposes for principle. The cry of no compromise is false in mortial, it is treaton to the spirit of the Constitution; it is this limit as on promise as displeaded by many who refuse a compromise as displeaded by many who refuse at charmy to their fellow or izens. It is the vital principle of social exists registrative, it unites the family circle; it sustains the church, and applied a nationalities.

But the Republicans complain that having won a victor, we ask them to surrender its froits. We do not with them to give up any political advantage. We urge measures which are demanded by the honor and the safety of our Union. Can it be that they are less concerned than we are? Will they admit that they have interests as agonistic to those of the whole common wealth? Are they making sacrifices, when they do that which is required by the common

Welfare?

The o' jects of this Convention are, to asonre the conterva ive men of the Sonth that they have at least he sympathy of 312,000 electors of N w York in the contest in wrich they the Union, and hur ulimately resone its inrigrity. But we have shother purpose. This is not the time for the exhibition of party spirit. We propose to bory party of first cen; we seek to restore he moral power of Hew York, so that on which the cause of our country shall till upp. To do this we must have up y or acumpo. To do this we must have unly or acasl. The present difficulties have apring into xieter casing the last popular cleetion; hey have tak nother whole community by emprise and to flicting views are field with regard to the proper ble of action. To record this mion or nor ose, for one, I again favor if in king an appeal to the Repullente and to the Legisla-fore of this State, to submit the triposition of Sersion Contention to the vote of the neother of New York; if it is approved, he we will exert ourselves to secure an arjustment upon that basis; if, upon the other hand, it is rejected, then we shall know that the pro, le of this State are opposed to the pilicy of compromise and coali in I do not fear the result. But if it is, no happily, true that the ol is Republicans represent the secole of the State, then are the case of the Republic tumbered. Then the fume is dark and na certain,

We may have no only one but many Confederacies. Before we are involved in the vills at dictions of dimeric war, let whose upon whom it will being bankruptey and rain, and into where to meet in my many desolation at death, ne allowed to speek in favor of the pelcy of peace. If the Legi-lature do not, it will be because they done not let the popular remiment be untend. If the jubble voice is besid, all will did to be dictions and we shall be united in action. In the down latter our ration and an idea its croin thug rule as we will chird to the distribution of the formers of New Yirk. We will estaid together and so at apetition that the plant, and greates, and worderful advantages shall not easy refield a crival intreets. We will loyally ollow its flag through the glorus of perfect of the mine and in his open hear there will hall with tride the motion emblazoned on its shield,

LXCLLSIOR !

r to co co gr vs. to:
me. to r who's le-se cider.
compr grasge crown

Last to rise or red a firm a fit they less, and reh Neither, that the fit had be observed in the red to the re

L. O

.

